The Kremlin

Greeting to the Moscow tourists! Did you hear about such an amazing place and historically rich place called Kremlin? It's a brick fortress with government building inside. When I was visiting this place for the first time, I fell in love with it because I've never seen so wonderful site.

This massive building is located in the centre of Moscow near the Red Square. Tourists always enjoy visiting that place. They always make lots of photos with Kremlin on the background to keep this moment of their life in mind forever. It's such an unique landmark because it was built in the end of fifteenth century, and keep atmosphere of those times. Firstly, Kremlin was made of wood, but as it was often burned, it was remade from bricks, but that time they were white. The bricks were coloured red for the 800 years birthday of Moscow in 1947. That's why I like this place: for a big and rich history, which have not every landmark in the world. By the way, walls of Kremlin save atmosphere of those years, so it's fantastic feeling when you can touch and stay near such an old building.

All in all, I would definitely recommend it to every foreign tourist. By visiting Kremlin you'll have lots of adorable photos, emotions and memories, which you'll keep in mind permanently.
